Legislator Low-Hogan Congratulates Local Attorney, Newly Installed State President of Women's Bar Association

New City, NY (June 25, 2015) - The Rockland County Legislature recently proclaimed June 16, 2015 a day in honor of Andrea F. Composto, Esq. in recognition of her recent installation as the 33rd President of the Women's Bar Association of New York (WBASNY). Legislator Nancy Low-Hogan presented the proclamation to Ms. Composto, who resides in South Nyack within Low-Hogan's Legislative District 17.

Ms. Composto is a graduate of Albany Law School (2002) and was admitted to the NYS Bar in 2003 and the Bar of the US Supreme Court in 2006. She is the third generation to practice in a family-owned law firm and has held many positions within WBASNY. WBASNY advocates for the equality and fair treatment of women, promotes the advancement of women in society and within the legal profession and works to change laws focused on domestic violence, equality in marriage dissolution, custody fairness, and sexual violence in crimes. Ms. Composto is also active in the Rockland County Women's Bar Association, the Columbian Lawyers Association of Rockland and the Brooklyn Women's Bar Association.

"It is an honor to recognize Andrea Composto on her installation as the President of the WBASNY," said Legislator Low-Hogan. "We congratulate Andrea for her leadership and recognize her dedication to the promotion of fairness and equity for women and children."
